

The landing gear is a tricycle, steerable type with dual nose wheels and tandem main wheels. A hydraulic actuator retracts the nose landing gear forward and up. Hydraulic motors power jackscrews which raise the main landing gear vertically into their wells in the fuselage. All landing gear doors are mechanically actuated by rods linked to the gear struts.